

Ryedell plays mournful original music

Written by Richard Amery

Thursday, 20 July 2017 09:59 - Last Updated Thursday, 20 July 2017 10:07

Calgary based singer songwriter Tanner Riddle aka Ryedell played an intimate show at the Slice, Saturday, July 8.

He played an intimate set of mournful acoustic folk. He played a solid set of mostly original, laid back, sad, minor key sounding songs, plus a couple of covers including a laid back version of Led Zeppelin's "Ramble On," and David Bowie's "Ziggy Stardust," which helped wind down his first set.

He ended with a lower original balled called "Glimmer."

— By Richard Amery, L.A. beat Editor