

Queen of the Worms in a bluesy mood

Written by Richard Amery

Friday, 25 January 2019 01:05 -

Queen of the Worms showed their many musical sides at the Owl Acoustic Lounge, Friday, Jan. 18.

The trio of vocalist/ guitarist Tyler Bird, bassist Paul Holden and drummer Clayton Smith, played a lot of blues and blues tinged rock in the set I hear. And, as usual, they had a good sized crowd out to support them.

In addition to more bluesy material, they also played upbeat alt country and more rock related songs.

— By Richard Amery, L.A. Beat Editor