

Trevor Alguire plays folk from all his albums

Written by Richard Amery

Tuesday, 20 May 2014 22:07 -

Ottawa based folk/ country musician Trevor Alguire played an energetic set of original folk and country music to approximately 40 people at the Slice, May 9.

Alguire and his tight rhythm section bassist Trevor Maduke and drummer Jay Bradley played songs from throughout his five albums and several of the more upbeat tracks from his most recent CD "Miles Away."

His second set began slowly but picked up with "She's The One," as well as several brand new songs. "Thirty Year Run" from his 2008 CD of the same name was an immediately appealing highlight.

"So Sad Lately," was a highlight as was a contemplative number "North Wind" from his 2010 CD "Till Sorrow Begins to Call."

Trevor Alguire plays folk from all his albums

Written by Richard Amery

Tuesday, 20 May 2014 22:07 -

“Now Before Us” was another upbeat highlight.

“I’m Going Crazy (Out Of Your Mind) from his last CD was another highlight.
He had a road wearied voice that would do Corb Lund proud.

— By Richard Amery, L.A. Beat Editor